The Principal's Message

SIR ARTHUR CURRIE

Principal's Office,
October 1st, 1921.

To the Editor,
McGill Daily:

I accept with pleasure and thanks your suggestion that I make the "Daily" the medium for transmitting a brief message of welcome to the staff and student body of McGill, now assembled for the work of the coming year.

I most cordially greet the old students, and offer them my congratulations on past successes. I thank them for their loyalty and devotion to the College's best traditions, and I wish them continued good fortune.

I extend a hearty welcome to those who for the first time are privileged to call McGill their Alma Mater. Her history and traditions they will learn, but that takes time. I ask them to take up their task earnestly and cheerfully. They are now enjoying privileges, denied to the great majority of their fellow citizens. Such privileges mean responsibilities.

I would like to impress upon them that success is not a thing of chance. It comes only after continued striving to possess it. I beseech them to guard jealously their good health, to "play the game" with themselves, and with the university, whose honor and fair name is in their keeping, and to learn to value and treasure the gifts which McGill will generously bestow.

To the staff I would say that the greatest possession of any university is its great names. The honor and glory that McGill has won has come, not on account of the number of its faculties, nor the number of students who have been trained here, nor on account of its buildings or any other circumstance, but because of the faithful and devoted services of those teachers in whose souls burned the "divine fire of discontent."

Proud as we all are of our Alma Mater's splendid past, I believe we are justified in looking forward to a still more glorious future. Every department approaches the work of the coming year better staffed and better equipped than a year ago. New departments have been created. Men and women of undoubted scholarship have been added to the staff. New buildings are being erected and increased facilities have been or are being supplied, while the atmosphere of the college is charged with optimism and earnestness.

In a few days we shall all join in ceremonies to commemorate the fact that McGill has passed the century mark. She has now become one of the venerable and powerful institutions of Canada, but she did not reach her present exalted position without passing through many anxious and perilous days, many trials and vicissitudes. She triumphed over her difficulties, and surmounted the obstacles that retarded her progress, because she kept ever before her the best ideals. Her leaders were men of wide vision and stout courage, of deep faith and boundless hope. Her teaching staff were loyal, devoted and efficient. Ernest, unselfish and far-seeing men have given their best thought to her government and administration, while her increasing worth and value have merited and won generous support from public spirited citizens.

In this there is for all of us a lesson which I need not take time to elaborate.

Yours faithfully,
A. W. CURRIE.

PRESIDENT OF THE THE MCGILL A.A.

To-day we tread upon the threshold of a New Year at McGill. Each and every one of us have come to college with a fixed determination to do greater things. Naturally our chief purpose should be our studies, but let us remember that "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." We cannot possibly derive the most benefit from our course if it is our intention to confine all our energies to study. We must interlock with our Academic activities some good healthful recreation.

No man at college can say truly "I have no time for recreation." Recreation is essential to health—health is necessary for a clear and active mind.

Let your period of recreation be advantageous to your Alma Mater. Surely you owe it to her. Spend that time in learning to be a true and clean sportsman, for which Old McGill is noted. In sport you get an education, which cannot be got by any other means, and without which your college course is incomplete.

Through sports you make true friends, you acquire a fighting spirit, and above all things you learn one of the greatest lessons a man has to learn, "you learn to take a defeat and also how to administer one."

Your sports may lead to executive positions in your college activities; should these opportunities present themselves (for they are opportunities), as well as honours, then take your share of responsibilities. These positions are likewise an education in themselves. You can acquire from them an executive and organizing ability, and this may mean much to you in future life. These positions, if energetically and skillfully managed will gain for you prestige among your fellow students.

The suggestion I wish to offer you (being especially directed to those students coming to McGill for the first time) is—learn to co-operate your studies with sports. I do not mean make your whole college life sport, for you have come to college to fit yourself, through study, for the future. Take up one branch of sport, specialize in that and learn to excel in it, and if every man at college did that, this, our one hundredth anniversary year, would be a true McGill Banner Year.

Get your shoulders behind the wheel—do not leave everything to the other man. We want every man in college to be interested in sport. Take a prominent part in your college life—by failing to do so you are failing in your duty to your Alma Mater, fellow students and yourself—you being the biggest loser.

We are away—it is to be McGill's big year, but only by our united co-operation, so let every one of us see our duty.

(Signed) R. L. HAMILTON,
President McGill A.A.A.

PRESIDENT OF STUDENTS' SOCIETY

Fellow Students of McGill:

On behalf of the Students' Council and myself, I wish to extend to all of you who are newcomers a most cordial and sincere welcome to our midst. May you early grasp the true McGill spirit, which has always characterized McGill men in the past. To those of you returning to continue courses we also extend greetings and trust that old friendships may be renewed and strengthened.

From every point of view this should be McGill's Banner Year. With our Alma Mater proudly celebrating her one hundredth anniversary as a national institution, we may well congratulate ourselves that it is a privilege to be a part of the University at this time and to have a share in the celebrations in her honor. Let us therefore, by mutual help and co-operation, seek to make the session of 1921-22 the most successful yet.

Faithfully yours,
J. G. COPELAND.

The Threshold of Life

Many men allow themselves to attain middle age before thinking of Life Assurance. The subject should make its strongest appeal to a man standing upon the threshold of his career.

Life Assurance is always economical. If taken up at an early age it is doubly so. Endowment Assurance taken up now, matures at the moment when either your business or your family will feel the benefit of it most.

Avoid the regrets that many men feel in later life.

OUR VISITORS.

The grads of Old McGill from every quarter of the globe are on the move. For the next ten days all roads will lead to Montreal; for the fledglings of last spring's capping, as for the veteran of half a century ago.

For a full week of unremitted festivity staid and portly men of middle age will rub shoulders with the most promising of the youth of the nation. Business troubles and the cares of "family" life will be banished for the nonce while the old-timers retell for the umpteenth time the wheezes played off on the professors of another century.

Throughout the note struck will be one of optimism and joviality, rejoicing in the hundredth birthday of their Alma Mater together with an exalted and justifiable hope in the promise of the future.

For the Undergraduate body the electrifying contact with the students of another day cannot but have a most beneficial effect. In their honoured guests of a week glorious in the history of McGill, the students of the present will have a mirror of their own future, and a tonic for the apathy and lassitude too prevalent sometimes among the lecture-wearied.

The memory of the Centenary celebration will live for many a day in the hearts of the participants. If the over-flowing enthusiasm that is gathering in graduates from two continents could make as profound an impression in the minds of this generation the 100th anniversary will be even more renowned for the mark made in the annals of the University by the students of that day.

THE RUSH.

Several of the theatres and other places of amusement in the city are withholding their advertising from The McGill Daily pending the developments during the season of the Freshman-Sophomore rush. The managers of the places in question claim, quite rightly, that they do not wish to seek the patronage of the students if, by so doing, they are going to suffer a loss from the damage done to their buildings.

There is no reason why the initiation of the first year men cannot be carried on without causing inconvenience to the citizens. A news item in another part of the paper today details the method being used at Queen's and Toronto Universities this year. Some similar method might easily be devised whereby the exuberant spirits of the newcomers to the college might be curbed without causing any disturbance outside of the University limits.

The matter of the pecuniary loss to the Students' Society through the withdrawal of advertising is not of paramount importance, although it is a point not to be ignored, but the goodwill of the citizens is all-important to the University.

The Sophomores and Freshmen might think the matter over!

It is sincerely to be hoped that the appeal to the graduates for subscriptions to the college paper will receive a generous response. This year especially we hope to make the "Daily" better than ever before, but the efforts of the students are not of much avail without the necessary financial backing. A subscription from every graduate would be of immense help to the Students' Society in publishing the paper and at the same time we feel that it would do much to bring all of the former students closer to McGill.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION IMPORTANT

Department Head Explains Object of Work.

One of the chief functions of the Department of Physical Education is the promoting and maintaining of the health and vigor of the whole student body. It is obviously more important that all students should enjoy perfect health and strength than that McGill should win the Intercollegiate contests in which she takes part.

It is with this as the main objective that there are organized in the University so many activities through participation in which any one who so desires can receive that vigorous exercise of his bodily functions calculated to make him a stronger and more virile individual and so build up a physical capital upon which the stress and strain of later life can more easily be borne. Numerous activities await the student; there are many opportunities for all who are ready and willing to do their part.

Every student in the University, if physically fit, should most certainly participate in some form of competitive athletics, whether he has had any previous experience or not, and there is lots of room for everyone. The short sighted policy so frequently seen of taking and training only those athletes with previous experience is rapidly passing, as it is now understood that, to have a first class senior squad in any activity is not possible for very long, unless there is a strong second squad also.

In spite of the fact that McGill is suffering from lack of adequate athletic accommodation, the situation is where candidates for athletic honors cannot be accommodated. It is only by the harmonious co-operation of all concerned that this has been possible.

In order to avoid the possibility of any misunderstanding throughout the year, it is strongly recommended that all students should thoroughly familiarize themselves with the regulations governing the requirements in the Department of Physical Education. Especially is it important for those students who contemplate participation in athletics, particularly those of the first and second years, and all officers of the various athletic clubs.

In order that these regulations might be made known, the Students' Council has published an Athletic Handbook containing all the necessary information.

The Medical Examination of all students before participation in athletics of any kind is a regulation wisely adopted in order to safeguard the health of the student. These examinations should have already begun, and details of examination hours are published in another column.

With the opening of another active, and let us hope a most successful season, might we not hope, instead of having a great many more spectators than performers, to have the situation reversed, and thereby not only help our athletic teams of the present, but also those of the days to come, and more important still, to build up health, strength and vigor for the future.

Principal is extended especially to the newcomers to the University. The occasion chosen for the reception of the new men was always a popular one during the many years when Sir William Peterson was Principal of McGill, and the present incumbent of the highest office in the university has made a very popular move in electing to follow in the footsteps of his predecessor. The Principal is very optimistic about the future of McGill, and is very well pleased with the recent additions to the staffs of the various faculties. The keynote of the speech will probably be one of optimism in keeping with the spirit of everyone connected with the college at the present time. The address which Sir Arthur Currie will deliver is doubly important because of the fact that it will be his first public utterance during the one hundredth session of McGill. Since early in the spring, the Principal has

PRINCESS THEATRE

The bill at the Princess this week should prove of exceptional interest, for it not only possesses variety but comedy of a novel type in abundance. Headlining the program are Jack Henry and Edythe Maye, in a musical extravaganza entitled, "Two Little Pals" in which they are assisted by Harry Meyers and Estelle McNeal, Harry Pearce and Mabel Grete. "Two Little Pals" is one of the biggest novelties on the vaudeville stage today, being notably up-to-date, lively as to comedy, with catchy music and snappy dialogue, cleverly staged, picturesquely costumed and possesses not only plenty of snap, but a chorus which can sing and dance. From a scenic standpoint the offering is said to be without a superior and the cast has been carefully selected.

Doris Duncan is a singing comedienne with a smiling personality who has a delightful offering in which she has met with remarkable success.

Lloyd and Rubin are seen in a new skit which they call "Ida Wana", which has to deal with a young man with infinite faith in his wisdom, by which much fun is created. Mr. Lloyd is the straight man and Mr. Rubin makes a character study of the other fellow, and both possess good voices and are excellent dancers.

William LeMaire and W. C. Hayes are blackface comedians who are old favorites and are offering an up-to-date version entitled "The American Ace of Spades," in which they are cleverly assisted by Carol Ralston and Patrick A. Shea.

Leipzig, the celebrated international card expert, is seen in some wholly amazing and inexplicable card tricks which keeps his audience in a state of wonderment. He is the possessor of a unique medal presented to him during a competition at St. George's Hall, London, by the Magic Circle, a society of English magicians.

Harry and Grace Ellsworth are a capable team of entertainers in a smiling, smattering offering of song and dance.

Kathleen French, with the "Aeroplane Girls," is a pretty maid who presents one of the most stunning and beautiful acts in the acrobatic line ever seen in vaudeville in which they execute some daring feats with great ease, and Dallas Walker, "The Girl from Texas," offers some real novelty stunts that have made her a favorite wherever she has been seen, completing an excellent and varied program.

WILTON LACKAYE AT ORPHEUM IN "TRILBY"

An announcement of exceptional interest is made by Mr. Hevia, lessee of the Orpheum, to the effect that this week, beginning with the Monday matinee, the noted actor, Wilton Lackaye, one of the most popular and accomplished artists on the American stage today, will be seen in his old role of Svengali in a revival of "Trilby."

Wilton Lackaye is known throughout the North American continent. He ranks today as one of the leading list of his successes would fill columns. Among them none was more emphatic nor more lasting than that of the sinister Svengali, the hypnotising musician who cast his baleful spell over poor Trilby's soul and turned her into a famous singer when, in real life, she could not sing a single note in tune, being tone-deaf.

Mr. Hevia has spared no efforts to make this revival popular in every sense of the word. The expense of bringing so distinguished an actor as Wilton Lackaye here is very heavy, and elaborate staging and setting have been planned. There will, however, be no increase in the ordinary Orpheum prices, either for the coming week or as long as Mr. Lackaye stays here.

Everybody knows the story of "Trilby." It is one of the modern classics the world will never willingly let die. The pathetic story of Little Billic's love for her, her devotion to him, her sacrifice, and her dramatic death; the comedy of the life of Little Billic, the Laird, and Taffy in the old Latin Quarter; the leering Svengali, with his masterful eyes and his dirty black beard; the tender little Gecko, his soul full of music and of love; the Rev. Mr. Bagot and the rest—all come back to memory. Next week you will meet them in the flesh.

VENETIAN GARDENS PRESENT MOST PLEASING CABARET AND DANCE PROGRAM

An evening of the keenest enjoyment may be obtained at the Venetian Gardens where one may sup, dance and witness a vaudeville performance of a most superior character. For those who have never visited this popular place of amusement, it may be said that it is possible to enjoy there dancing on an incomparable floor in an efficiently ventilated and a most artistically decorated room, in which the garrish element is entirely absent.

The various numbers on the vaudeville bill are interspersed with the general dance program, which arrangement has obvious advantages. The vocal numbers are presented by Miss Ann Greenway, a new and handsome prima donna who delights her audience by her unaffected singing of attractive songs. Her voice is full and warm, of individual timbre and always sympathetic. She knows how to lend distinction to a simple ballad.

The Comedy element of the program is supplied in amplest measure by the team of Woodward and Morrissey, who have been seen by many Montrealeers at Shanley's and other places in New York city. Their act is that of animal impersonation and they simply hold the house. The antics of the big polar bear and his dainty little mistress are but a trifling indication of what happens when the most intelligent mule on earth waltzes onto the floor and proceeds to set the entire audience in an uproar. There is nothing that mules do not understand and very little they will not undertake to do from waltzing to taking a drink with hugely diverting results. The act has been characterized by a delightful sense of fun and has been ingeniously planned and developed.

The numbers furnished by Miss Muriel Lea, a new and promising young dancer from Toronto, are rendered with a skill and grace which would make her conspicuous even in these days of innumerable exponents of the terpsichorean art.

PRINCESS THEATRE

The bill at the Princess this week should prove of exceptional interest, for it not only possesses variety but comedy of a novel type in abundance. Headlining the program are Jack Henry and Edythe Maye, in a musical extravaganza entitled, "Two Little Pals" in which they are assisted by Harry Meyers and Estelle McNeal, Harry Pearce and Mabel Grete. "Two Little Pals" is one of the biggest novelties on the vaudeville stage today, being notably up-to-date, lively as to comedy, with catchy music and snappy dialogue, cleverly staged, picturesquely costumed and possesses not only plenty of snap, but a chorus which can sing and dance. From a scenic standpoint the offering is said to be without a superior and the cast has been carefully selected.

Doris Duncan is a singing comedienne with a smiling personality who has a delightful offering in which she has met with remarkable success.

Lloyd and Rubin are seen in a new skit which they call "Ida Wanda", which has to deal with a young man with infinite faith in his wisdom, by which much fun is created. Mr. Lloyd is the straight man and Mr. Rubin makes a character study of the other fellow, and both possess good voices and are excellent dancers.

William LeMaire and W. C. Hayes are blackface comedians who are old favorites and are offering an up-to-date version entitled, "The American Ace of Spades," in which they are cleverly assisted by Carol Ralston and Patrick A. Shea.

Leipzig, the celebrated international card expert, is seen in some wholly amazing and inexplicable card tricks which keeps his audience in a state of wonderment. He is the possessor of a unique medal presented to him during a competition at St. George's Hall, London, by the Magic Circle, a society of English magicians.

Harry and Grace Ellsworth are a capable team of entertainers in a smiling, smattering offering of song and dance.

Kathleen French, with the "Aeroplane Girls," is a pretty maid who presents one of the most stunning and beautiful acts in the acrobatic line ever seen in vaudeville in which they execute some daring feats with great ease, and Dallas Walker, "The Girl from Texas," offers some real novelty stunts that have made her a favorite wherever she has been seen, completing an excellent and varied program.

WILTON LACKAYE AT ORPHEUM IN "TRILBY"

An announcement of exceptional interest is made by Mr. Hevia, lessee of the Orpheum, to the effect that this week, beginning with the Monday matinee, the noted actor, Wilton Lackaye, one of the most popular and accomplished artists on the American stage today, will be seen in his old role of Svengali in a revival of "Trilby."

Wilton Lackaye is known throughout the North American continent. He ranks today as one of the leading list of his successes would fill columns. Among them none was more emphatic nor more lasting than that of the sinister Svengali, the hypnotising musician who cast his baleful spell over poor Trilby's soul and turned her into a famous singer when, in real life, she could not sing a single note in tune, being tone-deaf.

Mr. Hevia has spared no efforts to make this revival popular in every sense of the word. The expense of bringing so distinguished an actor as Wilton Lackaye here is very heavy, and elaborate staging and setting has been planned. There will, however, be no increase in the ordinary Orpheum prices, either for the coming week or as long as Mr. Lackaye stays here.

Everybody knows the story of "Trilby." It is one of the modern classics the world will never willingly let die. The pathetic story of Little Billie's love for her, her devotion to him, her sacrifice, and her dramatic death; the comedy of the life of Little Billie, the Laird, and Taffy in the old Latin Quarter; the leering Svengali, with his masterful eyes and his dirty black beard; the tender little Gecko, his soul full of music and of love; the Rev. Mr. Bagot and the rest—all come back to memory. Next week you will meet them in the flesh.

VENETIAN GARDENS PRESENT MOST PLEASING CABARET AND DANCE PROGRAM

An evening of the keenest enjoyment may be obtained at the Venetian Gardens where one may sup, dance and witness a vaudeville performance of a most superior character. For those who have never visited this popular place of amusement, it may be said that it is possible to enjoy there dancing on an incomparable floor in an efficiently ventilated and a most artistically decorated room, in which the garrish element is entirely absent.

The various numbers on the vaudeville bill are interspersed with the general dance program, which arrangement has obvious advantages. The vocal numbers are presented by Miss Ann Greenway, a new and handsome prima donna who delights her audience by her unaffected singing of attractive songs. Her voice is full and warm, of individual timbre and always sympathetic. She knows how to lend distinction to a simple ballad.

The Comedy element of the program is supplied in amplest measure by the team of Woodward and Morrissey, who have been seen by many Montrealeers at Shanley's and other places in New York city. Their act is that of animal impersonation and they simply hold the house. The antics of the big polar bear and his dainty little mistress are but a trifling indication of what happens when the most intelligent mule on earth waltzes onto the floor and proceeds to set the entire audience in an uproar. There is nothing that mules do not understand and very little they will not undertake to do from waltzing to taking a drink with hugely diverting results. The act has been characterized by a delightful sense of fun and has been ingeniously planned and developed.

The numbers furnished by Miss Muriel Lea, a new and promising young dancer from Toronto, are rendered with a skill and grace which would make her conspicuous even in these days of innumerable exponents of the terpsichorean art.

TRACK CANDIDATES ARE GETTING INTO CONDITION

Lack of Material Causes Coach to Worry—Many New Men Expected Out To-day — Only Short Time Remains Before Meets are Held.

THE candidates for the Track team got the earliest start in years when they began to turn out on the track at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium early in September. Some of the men had been doing a certain amount of work all summer, and it was only a matter of getting practice at the proper method of doing their various events. On the other hand, there are a great many of the candidates who are sadly in need of a lot of conditioning before they will be able to show what they are capable of on the track.

So far there is a serious lack of material for the team, and it will be necessary for every student who can do so to turn out and give a helping hand. Naturally the majority of the students who live out of town were unable to get here early simply in order to get out on the track. However, all the faculties are now open, and every man who is at all capable of doing so should make it his duty to get out at the workouts right away.

Coach Van Wagner, whose good work largely responsible for the fact that the McGill team won the Inter-collegiate championship last fall, has again got the men in hand, and is spending the greater part of his time trying to improve their form. As far as he is concerned, there is almost nothing that he can do until the men are in condition, so that any man who goes up to the track will have to spend a few days getting into shape before attempting serious work.

It would appear as if the department in which the team is weakest at the present time is that of weight throwing. Especially is this true in the case of the hammer-throwers. It is expected that MacLellan, who was on the team last year, will again be out this season, but so far there has been no other candidate for the position. As there are two men carried on the team for each event, there is an excellent opportunity for some new man to travel to Kingston with the team for the Inter-collegiate meet on October 22nd.

There is still a vacancy for a good man in the hurdlers event. The graduation of Jack Farthing after breaking the Inter-collegiate hurdlers record has made that department of the team look especially weak. Consiglio, who was the second man in that event last fall, is again out this season, but another man has yet to be found to pair with him.

Kennedy, the captain of the track team this fall, suffered a severe illness recently, and has not yet fully regained his strength. However, he claims that he is feeling better every day, and will soon be at the top of his form again. He will compete in the broad and high jumping events, and possibly in a few of the weight events. Last year Wells was entered with him in the broad jump, but so far there is no one who has shown good enough form and distance to be sure of a place on the team.

The pole vaulting event is another one where candidates have every chance of catching a place with the team if they show any ability. Antliff, who captured the Inter-collegiate pole vaulting championship last fall, is another man who has graduated, and the coach is busy trying to find a man to take his place in the event.

Long distance runners are welcome to the stadium these days. With a mile and three mile event on the programme there is a good opportunity for plenty of men to try out in the races. There are a couple of the men from last year's team out for the sprints, but some more will have to be picked from the candidates if they are not to carry a very heavy task in the big meet. Johnson and Hay have been working regularly at the sprints; at least two more men will be wanted in these events.

Hamilton, Legg, Creelman and Frederick are members of last season's team who are turning out for the distance events, and they are getting some keen competition from many of the newcomers.

The meets are so close at hand that the men who turn out will have to work very hard to get into shape. The Freshman-Sophomore meet takes place next Saturday afternoon, the University sports on Friday, October 14th, while the Inter-collegiate meet takes place at Kingston a week later, on Saturday, October 22nd.

KENNEDY.

HAMILTON.

Forewords

With about ten members of last year's Inter-collegiate team for a nucleus together with a number of promising new candidates, McGill's chances for a winning team look to be good.

A few men have been training daily since early in September, and are already showing fairly good condition. Of these Capt. Kennedy will soon be ready to take both jumps and perhaps help out with the weights, while Don Foss is stepping over the high bar with great ease, as well as tossing the weights. Johnson is fast rounding in to shape, and will be ready to again carry the McGill colors to the front in the sprint events, and with Hay, who won a couple of B. C. Championships this summer, as a running mate, we should be well represented in the short distances.

Of course, there can be nothing settled about who will fill any of the various places on the team for a couple of weeks yet, but the 880 and one mile promise to furnish some close competition. Hamilton, the veteran of several seasons, is working harder than ever, and it will take some good running to beat him. Other likely candidates for these events are Legg, who ran the mile last year, Gammell, a Montreal High School runner; McNider and Frederick, of last year's squad.

Bill Antliff will be greatly missed in the Pole Vault and 3 miles, but Bill's brother, J. C. Antliff, Creelman, Egerton, Wiggins and Simpson are out for places in the long distance events, and it will be another case of the survival of the fittest.

Consiglio, who placed in the hurdles last year, is out to duplicate the memorable record breaking performance of Capt. Farthing at Toronto.

Craik and Gaboury are both showing great improvement in the pole vault, and will soon be clearing 10 ft. with ease.

MacLellan, last year's hammer champion, is the only candidate for that event thus far.

The men who are out now are doing their best, and they can be counted on to make a creditable showing at the Inter-collegiate Meet. But the big cry is for more material, more candidates who are willing to start now and get in shape for the Freshmen-Sophomore and University Meets. There should be a good squad of men, especially from the first two years, practicing daily, it is not at all necessary that a man should have had any previous experience, all that is necessary is some athletic ability, a liking for the event, and lots of determination to stick at it. Because you have not been a high school star is no reason why you cannot be an Inter-collegiate Champion.

McGill has every reason for optimism regarding the track outlook, but as the members of last year's team know very well it is going to call for our very best to annex the championship.

(Signed) F. M. VAN WAGNER,
University Track Coach.

The Track Team has been the most consistent winner of Inter-collegiate championships during recent years. This fall we are facing a difficult task in getting together a team that will measure up to the standard of the Track Teams of the past. Through the loss by graduation of such stellar athletes as "Jack" Farthing and "Bill" Antliff the squad has been greatly weakened, and it is important that new men should be found to take their places.

The response to the call for candidates has been gratifying, but there is still a great need for many more men to turn out daily at the stadium. Much is expected from the students who are coming to the college for the first time, as it is from them that the most of the promising candidates are expected to be drawn. I cannot stress too much the importance of having every man who can run, jump, or throw weights, turn out immediately and start training under the guidance of Coach Van Wagner.

(Signed) D. B. FOSS,
Pres., McGill Track Club.

The football season of 1921 is now in full swing, and the opening of college finds the Football Club well organized and ready for a strenuous season. The first squad, containing many of last year's first team, are well advanced in their training, and are now down to hard work in preparation for their first game with Toronto. The remaining squads, however, due to a great scarcity of "football material," are not in such a fortunate position, and I would like to point out to those men who are at present hanging back that weak 2nd and 3rd teams, besides making a poor showing for McGill in their respective playing unions, will react directly on the playing strength of the 1st team, who must have stiff opposition during practices. The Football Executive this year are attempting to encourage football throughout the University by endeavoring to make the Inter-Faculty League a great success, and ask those men who fail to catch a piece on any of the three college teams to turn out with their faculty teams, and not stop playing, as many of them have done in the past. The Football Executive, therefore, earnestly request all footballers in the college to turn out at once for these various football activities, and help make McGill's Centennial year her biggest and best football year.

EMPIRE COLLEGE ATHLETICS URGED

College athletes from Canada and the other Dominions may compete in a big empire meet to be held in London at least every two years if the plans outlined by Basil G. Rudd, the captain of the Oxford-Cambridge track team, for the extension of British college athletics are carried through. Mr. Rudd also hopes to organize a British inter-collegiate athletic association, and to arrange frequent international inter-collegiate contests.

Rudd, famous for his running feats at the Pennsylvania relays, Olympic games and the recent international meets in Boston, stated that he hoped to develop a British Isles inter-collegiate body modelled along the lines of the I. C. A. A. A. of the United States. There are more than twenty colleges and universities in England, Scotland and Wales, and it is Rudd's idea to combine them with those of Ireland into a generally governed association, holding annual championship games in addition to the usual dual contests of which the Oxford-Cambridge meet is the most noted.

HOURS FOR PHYSICAL EXAMINATION GIVEN

In accordance with the regulations of the University, all students of the first two years are required to present a certificate or other successful evidence of vaccination and to pass a physical examination to be conducted under the Director of the Department of Physical Education. These examinations will be held in the Gymnasium, Molson Hall, Arts Building, as follows:—

First Year Arts and First Year Commerce to-day, Monday, October 3rd:—Arts: 10 a.m. A to L inclusive, 11 a.m. M to Z inclusive. Commerce: 2 p.m. A to L inclusive, 3 p.m. M to Z inclusive.

Second Year Arts and Second Year Commerce on Tuesday, October 4th:—Arts: 10 a.m. A to L inclusive, 11 a.m. M to Z inclusive. Commerce: 2 p.m. A to L inclusive, 3 p.m. M to Z inclusive.

First Year Students in Medicine, Dentistry and Pharmacy on Wednesday, October 5th:—2 p.m. A to L inclusive, 3 p.m. I to Q inclusive, 4 p.m. R to Z inclusive.

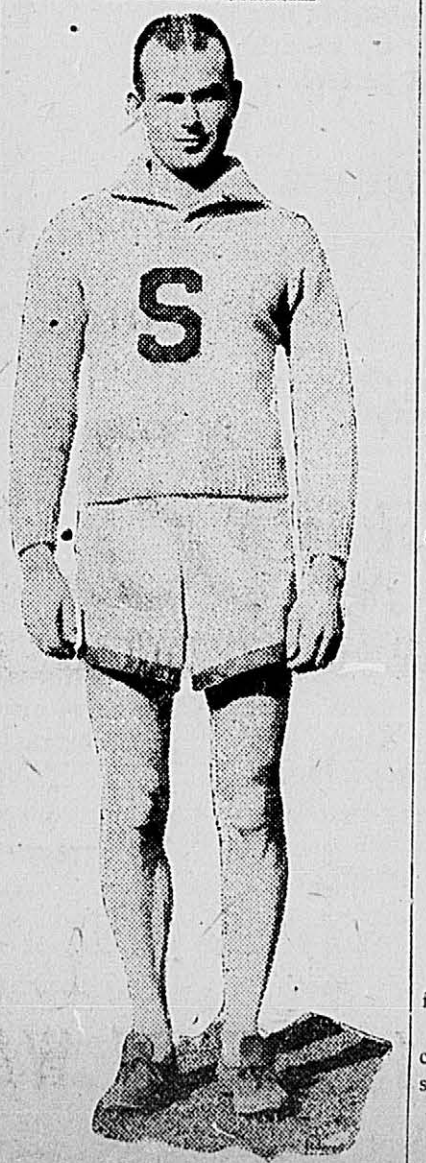

Second Year Students in Medicine, Dentistry on Thursday, October 6th:—2 p.m. A to H inclusive, 3 p.m. I to inclusive, 4 p.m. R to Z inclusive.

First and Second Year Science students, and any students of other Faculties who desire to take part in athletics and who have not already been examined this Session, may do so at any of the above mentioned hours.

CANDIDATES WANTED FOR HARRIERS TEAM

The McGill Harrier Club is one of the college organizations whose activities start early in the season. Especially is this the case this Fall, since the athletic meets are much in advance of regular times, on account of the Centennial which takes place next week.

Every McGill student is urged to turn out for a run, and do his bit for his college from an athletic standpoint if he is able to do so. The work at present is easy, and special attention is being given by Coach Van Wagner at the Stadium every afternoon at 4 p.m. Within the next ten days an inter-faculty cross-country race will be held. Towards the end of October the annual harrier contest takes place, when the McGill team to compete at Kingston will be selected. In addition to this inter-collegiate meet, other trips are being entertained by the club officials, so that there is every inducement offered to McGill men to take part in one of the best autumn sports.

VAN WAGNER.

FRESHMAN-SOPH. MEET SATURDAY

First Big Athletic Event of College Year.

The Freshman-Sophomore meet next Saturday will be the first big athletic event of the college season. For many years past there has been great rivalry between the two years to see who would carry off the honors in the track and field events. Every man who could possibly do so turned out and did his best for the class to which he belonged.

As there is only three or four days to go before the meet takes place it is important that everyone who intends to take part should turn out at the stadium immediately and get some training.

The Sophomores generally have a group of men well prepared for the meet who will fight hard to win. The main advantage to the Freshmen is the fact that they have more students to choose from. Many meets have been won by the first year owing to their ability to win many points by having a much larger team than their opponents. It is expected that the first year men will make a record turnout this fall.

Many of the best athletes who have represented McGill have been discovered in the early season meet between the two classes and Coach Van Wagner will be a very interested spectator at the meet next Saturday.

The entry lists can be found in the dressing room at the stadium or at the porter's desk in the McGill Union, and anyone intending to enter is advised to sign up immediately. The entry lists will be closed Thursday at noon.

The events for the meet on Saturday are as follows:—

- Pole vault.
- One hundred yards.
- Half mile.
- Throwing sixteen pound hammer.
- Running high jump.
- Putting sixteen pound shot.
- Two hundred and twenty yards.
- Running broad jump.
- Mile.
- Discus.
- Hurdles—120 yards.
- Quarter mile.
- Three miles.
- Relay race.

McGILL'S RUGBY PROSPECTS NOT CONSIDERED BRIGHT

Preliminary Practices, However, Reveal Form—But Detriments Are Many—Little Knowledge of Fine Points of American Rules—Captain "Boo" Anderson Showing Up Well.

ROUNDING into the stretch for the hard drive through the Inter-collegiate schedule, McGill's Rugby representatives show the finest condition of any squad in preliminary practice since the advent of Frank Shaughnessy as mentor. The chances of McGill hoisting the pennant on its athletic flag pole, however, are not as bright this year as in former seasons. The reasons for this state of affairs are legion, but the real causes are little knowledge of the finer points of the newly constructed rules, and a deplorable lack of interest on the part of those who were not fortunate enough to be chosen on the first two squads last year. Those who have ability, but whose "esprit de corps" is low, are unwilling to lend even a small part of their energies to McGill.

MEDICINE MAN

men are backs of more than ordinary ability, and should, according to the dope, compare favorably with the rear division of the rival universities. Jeff Russell has shown the greatest improvement over last year, and if his present form continues he should really come into his own this season. If Russell has overcome his tendency to fumble he will be a tower of strength to the

Shag Says--

"The season of 1921 should show a more interesting brand of football from the spectator's viewpoint than any preceding year. The rulemakers have at last abandoned the heeling-out process in favor of the snapback and this change should do away with several of the defects in the old rules. It should speed up the game, encourage passing, runs, and give the spectators a chance to follow the ball at all times.

Another rule that was meant to do away with mass plays, but failed in its purpose, is the one which states that only two men can take part in a buck. The rule, as it is written, allows only a tandem buck but permits everyone to pile in as soon as the man carrying the ball is tackled, so that it really has not relieved the situation at all. As a result we can look forward to a season of heavy bucks and the usual resulting injuries. This should not be so.

The McGill team will be the lightest in years. There is a woeful lack of players who possess the required weight to handle a good big man. The new rules may help us; we are certainly going to take advantage of them. In fact, we must play a fast, smart game if we hope to make a creditable showing as we are certain to be outweighed in every game.

The squad has been put through a very severe conditioning period before school opened. Most of these exercises will have to be discontinued now that school has commenced as the time for practice is necessarily curtailed.

Everything this year depends on the fighting spirit of the team. This fighting spirit must be imparted to the team from the student body. I hope that every McGill man will remember this and do his part.

ball wizard. Many teams in the past few years have had an overwhelming advantage over McGill in the matter of weight and strength, only to see their advantage turned against them through the medium of trick plays which were the original products of "Shag's" brain. Every coach in the country is looking to "Shag" this year to lead the way in meeting the conditions imposed by the new rules, and every move made by him will be watched eagerly and copied immediately, and in itself is as high a tribute as could be paid to his ability as a football instructor.

There are quite a number of last year's Senior squad turning out again this year, and outside of the back division it should not be a very difficult task to round out a team equal to those of former years. The back division has always been a source of worry since the days of Billington, Draper, Laing, and Paisley, and this year the backs are again regarded as the weak part of the combination. The weakness of the halves is one of the strangest things that McGill's Football Executive have been forced to face, because every man has potentialities which should carry him to the heights of Rugby stardom, and yet each in succession has failed to show at the critical moment the brilliance expected or the ability of which he was capable. Things may be different this year, and if the change is for the better, then watch them romp through the opposition.

If the men filling these vital positions encounter the same bad luck as was the case last year, then it might be just as well to kiss the pennant "Goo-Bye," because no team can be expected to come through successfully if the attack is weak. With the success of the team depending on the excellence of their play, Anderson, Flanagan, Little, Russell and Philpots, among others, who are endeavoring to catch a place are being put through the hardest kind of conditioning, and just at present look fifty per cent. stronger than when they lined up last year. "Boo" Anderson, who is leading this year's team, is one of those athletes who might be called a "Jack of all sports," as he is proficient in almost every branch. He is an admirable example of what a Captain should be, and enjoys the confidence and respect of players and students alike.

The most likely looking candidates for the backfield at the present time are Flanagan, Little, Russell, Anderson and Philpots, with "Boo" shouting the signals. Philpots or Flanagan booting, and Little and Russell combining in the different plays on the offensive, and acting as secondary defence. These team, as he is bigger, better and faster than formerly, and needs only to eradicate this weakness in order to become a great player.

While the backs have been the cause of most of the worry, "Shag" has not had, by any means, an easy task with the line, though it is in this department that the squad shows greatest strength. The difficulty with the line

B.W. & F. TEAM IS ALMOST ALL BACK

Competition With American Universities Expected This Year.

The B. W. and F. Club begins the new season under exceptionally happy conditions. Practically the complete team which took part in the Intercollegiate Assault at Arms last February will be back to continue their work this year. Among those who won their events in the Intercollegiate Tournament, and who will be out this year are: Boxing—Edelberg (Arts); Shackell (Commerce); Brewer (Commerce). Wrestling—Bryant (Science); Reid (Science); MacKeen (Science). In addition to these men, the men who won college championships include Mirsky, Long, Badger, in Boxing, and Mathews, Irvine, Curry, Messenger, Bain and Freedman in Wrestling.

The boxing fans will be glad to hear that the club has been fortunate in securing the services of Ernie Robinson, city welterweight champion, '14, '15, '16, who was subsequently in charge of large boxing classes in the army. Mr. Robinson is a boxing instructor with some seven years' experience. Last year he had charge of the Y.M.C.A. Boxing Club as well as private classes. The McGill Club, then, can look forward to both efficient and enthusiastic instruction throughout the coming year.

Coach "George" Smith will be on deck for the wrestling class, and needs no introduction to the McGill wrestlers. With "George" in charge the class cannot help but meet with its usual success.

There will be a meeting of the fencing club in the near future to decide definitely on the choice of an instructor. Several good men are in line for this position, and the college expects great things from the fencers in the Assault-at-Arms which will be held in Toronto in February. Fielding, Crestohl and Walters are all back. It is the intention of the manage-is that the men do not seem to be fitting into their positions as smoothly as they might, and have not been showing that dash which has been so typical of McGill's line-up in the past. This very necessary quality will no doubt be instilled into them before long, and the railbirds will then see a different team in action.

McGregor and Livshin will fight it out for the position of snapback. The latter has more experience at that position, but McGregor is a shifty player, and faster than Livshin, who might with benefit be used at inside wing. Other candidates for the inside positions are Parsons and Lazier, both of whom have showed up pretty well, so far.

The likely choice for middle wings seem to be Ambridge, who is showing the best form of his career, and Jeff Notman if Jeff can be forced to lay aside his good-nature when he pulls on his uniform. Notman is the biggest man on the squad, he has had two years' tutelage under "Shag," he knows the game thoroughly, and has plenty of courage. He should be the most powerful line plunger playing football today, but, strange to say, he is not, because, like most men of his size, he does not take advantage of his superior weight, being afraid that he might injure some man smaller than himself.

At outside wings there are an overabundance of material, the most prominent being "Silk" Murphy, Doug McGregor, Leo Timmins, McComb and Eddie Crain. Murphy is almost sure to catch one of the positions, while a merry battle is expected for the other. There is only one more position, and that seems to be at the mercy of Don Baillie, whom many competent critics regard as the best secondary defence man in the Inter-collegiate. There are many other candidates who will come into prominence later, but those who have been mentioned above are known quantities, and as such are given preference in the pre-season picking, but as some one remarked: "There's many a change between the practice and the game," and the truth of this will become more apparent as the season gets under way.

ment to conduct the boxing and wrestling classes on the group system. Two nights a week being devoted to the novices. This group will, as far as possible, be kept separate from the veterans until later in the season.

An inter-class smoker is scheduled to take place shortly before Xmas, and the club are making arrangements for an international competition with Cornell, Columbia or Dartmouth Colleges.

Workouts will commence about the middle of October, and it is expected that the usual large turnout will be forthcoming. There are few, if any, sports which offer to the competitor the advantages which are to be derived from a thorough knowledge of boxing, wrestling or fencing.

There are no fees attached to membership. The classes are as far as possible conducted during hours which do not doubt that proficiency at boxing or wrestling gives a man muscular development and a feeling of self-confidence which cannot be gained in any better way.

Fencing provides invaluable training in speed of action and quickness of eye, besides being a sport which can be carried on late in life, when football suits and boxing gloves must necessarily be discarded.

Notice of organization meetings of these various branches will be published at a later date.

INGENUITY.

Combining business with pleasure, L. G. Watkins, special student in civil engineering in Illinois University, has discovered a new method for breaking in pipes. For all pipes, when new, taste more of wood than of tobacco.

Watkins brought his new French briar to the highway laboratory, attached it to the suction pump, and lighted up.

Three hours later a nice juicy and well caked pipe awaited the inventor. He now has all the joy of an old stand by, plus the beauty of a new pipe.

RUGGER TO BE POPULAR THIS YEAR

Intercollegiate Games to Stimulate Interests

McGILL MEETS VARSITY

Campus to Be Given Over to English Rugby Teams

Never in the history of McGill has English Rugby, popularly known as "Rugger," looked forward to a season with such splendid prospects. Possibilities for the Rugger enthusiast are many. In the first place, English Rugby will assume an Intercollegiate status if, as is generally expected, the Athletic Association and the Students' Council sanction the proposed home-and-home series with Varsity. Varsity wants to meet the Red and White squad at Toronto on October 22. The return game would undoubtedly attract a large crowd, thus putting the game on a self-supporting basis.

In addition to the Intercollegiate series, several matches will be arranged with the Montreal English Rugby Club, the first of which will be on October 8, on the old Campus. Last year there were hopes of establishing a local Montreal league of four or five teams. However, there are not sufficient players of experience in the city to make such a course justifiable this season. Accordingly, matches between McGill and the Montreal English, and also matches between a representative Montreal team, and Ottawa or Toronto will, with the McGill-Varsity fixture, make up the season's Rugger programme. It promises to be a good one.

This programme provides football for fifteen men, who make a place on the First Team. The Executive's plan for this season calls for a resumption of the Western-Maritime-Imperial three-team series that was such a success last year. In addition there is a possibility of organizing a second team to play a second team from the Montreal English. Those latter plans for the All-McGill League depend on the amount of playing time on the old Campus allotted to the Club.

To carry out such an extensive programme of sport the Executive must have playing space every day. Every one concedes that the first duty of the Club is to turn out a First team that will be a credit to McGill. With sufficient playing time the Executive hopes to accomplish the above mentioned first duty, and in addition to provide the greatest amount of sport for the greatest number.

Such, then, are the plans of the English Rugby Club: To play a two-game series with Varsity to arrange general games with the Montreal English Rugby Club for both first and second teams, and to run a local McGill League of three teams representing the Westerners, the Maritimers and the Imperials.

Announcements in regard to practices and meetings will be found elsewhere game are urged to turn out on the old game are urged to turn out on the in The Daily. All men who know the Old Campus on the practice days. Further information can be obtained from W. N. Kemp at Uptown 6084.

HEALTH SERVICE FOR ALL UNIVERSITY MEN

For the first time in the history of a Canadian University, the Department of Physical Education last session, instituted a health service, through which all students in the University could receive free medical attention and hospital treatment.

The arrangements are to be continued this Session, and are outlined in a pamphlet "Announcement to Men Students" published by the Department. This pamphlet is now being distributed, and it contains a lot of very useful information for students of all years.

A Clinic is held daily from 12.30—1.30 p.m., in Molson Hall, where minor illnesses are treated, and where medical advice can be secured. If a student is unfortunate enough to be so sick that he should be sent to hospital, the University will admit him and pay his hospital expenses for the first seven days, after which time the student is expected to bear any expense involved.

Students unable to attend the Clinic on account of illness, will be visited if a message is left at the Department office.

A requisition form, signed by the University Medical Officer, is necessary before admission to hospital if a student wishes the University to assume any financial obligation.

The pamphlet issues a grave warning to students of the dangers of venereal disease, and offers the assurance that the officers of the Department are prepared to help counsel and advise students on all personal questions.

PLANS FOR THE CENTENARY REUNION ALMOST READY

Registration of Graduates in Montreal Takes Place on October 10th and 11th at Strathcona Hall—Out-of-town Graduates Register October 12th—Program Full of Interesting Events—McGill-Varsity Football Game Will Be Climax of the Celebration.

The Centenary Re-union of the Graduates of McGill will be the biggest event ever seen at the University since the opening session one hundred years ago. It has taken a large and efficient organization working over a year to prepare for the gathering of the former students, and the result of their work is already apparent in the great amount of interest being taken in the celebration, not only by McGill graduates, but by people of all classes all over Canada.

Every graduate who can possibly do so is coming to Montreal for the celebration, and it is safe to say that none of them will regret the visit. According to the plans of the Graduates' Society, the Re-union is to be a very informal affair. There will be any amount of things doing for the men if they wish to attend them, but no one will feel that he is forced to go to any particular function.

The first and one of the most important things to be done will be the registration of all the graduates who are going to be present. This will take place at Strathcona Hall, where special arrangements have been made to handle them as fast as they arrive. In order to relieve any congestion, however, the graduates who are present in the city before the opening of the Re-union are being asked to register on Monday and Tuesday, October 10th and 11th. The out-of-town graduates will register at Strathcona Hall on Wednesday morning, October 12th.

The big features of the gathering will start on Wednesday afternoon, when a monster pageant will take place on the University grounds. A great amount of time and energy has been expended in preparing for this event, and it promises to be an imposing sight. On Wednesday night the undergraduates will hold full sway over the proceedings. The programme of the Re-union has entitled the students' celebration a "Fete de Nuit," but just what that includes is something that very few will know until the celebration actually takes place. Under the guidance of the Students' Council preparations have been going on steadily for this event, and an affair that will bring back many memories to the graduates will be staged.

On Thursday the main event on the general programme is the convocation to be held in the afternoon. At this proceeding representatives from all of the important universities in the world will be present, and honorary degrees will be conferred on many of the distinguished sons of McGill as well as upon other prominent men and women.

The general meeting of the graduates in the Capitol Theatre on Thursday morning will be the first ever held. The evening of the second day of the gathering will be spent by the graduates in attendance at their class dinners. Most of the pleasant memories of college days are woven about the members of the classes with which the graduates were connected, and the evening should prove to be one of the most enjoyable of all. Arrangements have been made through the medium of class secretaries to hold these dinners, and almost all of the available places in Montreal have been taken up for the occasion.

During the mornings of Thursday, Friday and Saturday lectures and clinics will be given to interest the graduates who wish to hear their old university professors speaking on subjects of interest, Friday afternoon the University Sports, one of the oldest traditions of the college, will take place, and it is safe to say that every graduate in the city will be present. To make the competition still more enjoyable, an invitation has been extended to Toronto Varsity to send down a team for the day, and they have agreed to compete in the relay race, at least, if not in some of the other events.

The reception and dance on Friday evening will be one of the biggest, if not the biggest, ever staged in Montreal. As in all the other events during the re-union much care has been taken to make the reception a very enjoyable affair, and plans will be arranged whereby groups who wish to do so may gather together.

The climax of the re-union will be held on Saturday afternoon, when the McGill and Varsity rugby teams will meet on the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium in a game that is expected to decide who will be the champions of the Intercollegiate football champions for the season. The McGill-Varsity game has always been the classic of football in Canada, and has been followed by the graduates of both colleges, no matter where they were situated. It was a master stroke on the part of the Committee in charge of the celebration when they arranged to have the game played on the last day of the re-union. Both of the teams have been training hard for the big contest, and it is expected to make football history.

A general church service has been arranged for the graduates to take place on Sunday, October 16th. The details about the service will be announced shortly before the opening date of the re-union.

IMPORTANT ADDITIONS TO LIBRARY

Dr. Lomer Announces Purchase of New Volumes

GIFT FROM YALE

Reading Rooms Given Over to Graduates for Centenary Re-Union

As usual the University Library is not going to play any unimportant part in a programme in which Old McGill is concerned. The coming re-union and seasonal activities will see the Library active in all departments. What with Dr. Lomer returning from a successful purchase trip over to England, with the summer school concluding a most enterprising season, and with the work of extension going on splendidly, a very busy time was spent during the summer months.

"So far as Great Britain is concerned, McGill University Library in its departments of general zoology and Ornithology, is inferior only to that of the British Museum. It is worthy to rank with the library of the Zoological Society of London in these branches of science, and it is almost certainly superior in these respects to the library of any other British institution, not excepting the universities of Oxford and Cambridge."

Such an expression, the opinion of a high-class expert, familiar for twenty years with the libraries of Great Britain, is brought back over the Atlantic by Dr. Gerhard R. Lomer, our librarian, who has returned lately from his trip with Dr. Casey A. Wood to England in order to purchase books for the Blacker Library of Zoology, and the Emma Shearer Wood Library of Ornithology.

The Blacker Library is the result of a gift of $40,000 by Robert R. Blacker and Nellie Canfield Blacker, of California, early this year, for the establishment of a library on zoology.

Every available source of valuable material was drawn upon, and books were obtained from the smallest book-rooms in the English provinces as well as from specialists in scientific literature in London and on the Continent. The books obtained were in the best possible condition, and in many cases are perfect examples of the art of bookbinding. Owing to excellent shipping arrangements, more than half of the purchased volumes are already safe-tyed on the library shelves; and, in addition, the remainder is being brought to the middle of November. For the Emma Shearer Wood Library of Ornithology, Dr. Casey

Wood was doing his best to ensure representation of every ornithological journal in the world, and he has already nearly completed a descriptive catalogue of all bird periodicals ever published. Dr. Lomer has been fortunate enough to secure reports of scientific voyages, at all times full of zoological material; and in the Blacker Library will be found such classics as "Coquille," "Sulphur," "La Recherche," "Belgica," "Astrolabe et Zeelee." Other masterpieces of publication that the zoologist will revel in are Godman and Silvan's "Biologia Centrali-Americana." Granddier's books on Madagascar, Smith on South Africa, and Prince C. L. Bonaparte on Italy. A copy of the famous third edition, third in point of date and first in point of beauty, was printed at Venice in 1472, and may be regarded as the chief glory of Jensen's Press. The copy has a unique and beautiful historical initial of the 15th century in perfect condition, representing Pliny offering his book to the Emperor; it belonged to the library of Wilhelm Morris, and it still bears his book label.

The library possesses a mine of information on the history of Natural Science in the entire collection of letters addressed to the late Dr. R. Bowdler Sharpe, the eminent ornithologist; the collection comprises thousands of letters from zoologists in all parts of the world. After it has been arranged, its importance as direct evidence in regard to events concerning Natural History in the latter part of the 19th and the beginning of the 20th century, cannot, in the opinion of English scientists, be over-estimated.

Dr. Lomer has also secured a number of books of general interest for the other departments of the library; in particular, there are some of the finest specimens of Eastern and early European manuscripts, and these will be exhibited in the Morgan Collection of the History of Printing. These grand old volumes have been collected with great care; they are masterpieces of their kind, and will in the near future form one of the most important collections to be exhibited in the new extension to the Library.

While, however, the University Library holds so proud a position in scientific literature, the field of general literature has not been neglected. It can compare favorably with any of the State universities across the border, though it must, as yet, necessarily fall behind the Libraries of Yale, Harvard and Princeton. But Dr. Lomer is not worrying about the future. With the splendid start made in the scientific part of the programme, he feels sure that all departments of the Library will soon be on the same high plane, especially as good headway has been made with books on architecture and the drama. The gaps caused by the war in the files of periodicals have been well filled up, and many European publications of the last five years have been obtained.

Dr. Lomer is at the same time gratified to announce the receipt of a gift of sixty volumes from the Yale University Press, with a special bookplate indicating that the presentation is made "in recognition of the unselfish part played by McGill men in the Great War."

But while Dr. Lomer was in England, the work about the Library has gone on in spite of the confusion incidental to building operations, and the competent staff ought to be congratulated for the manner in which duties were performed. Those who withstood the unusual heat during the Summer School come in for special commendation. Under the able guidance of Miss Harriet R. Peck, Librarian of the Rennselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy, and for many sessions on the staff of the McGill Library School, the season proved the best in its history. Out of a registered number of twenty-three, twenty students stuck it out with credit both to individuals and teachers.

The recent growth of the Library, together with the Blackader Library of Architecture, and the expansion of the Emma Shearer Wood of Ornithology, made necessary the extension of the present Library building. The work is rapidly nearing completion. The Blackader, Emma Shearer Wood, and Blacker Libraries will be lodged in the extension, which will provide special reading rooms with two floors of stacks adjoining each. The top floor will be an exhibition room, in which will be displayed rare books, manuscripts, autograph material, and buildings. The builders promise to have the new wing completed by the end of the present year.

Every year brings changes and improvements, and this year, fraught with the spirit of re-union, will prove a good example of the changing order. During the Centennial celebration, the reading room of the Library will be used for a variety of purposes. The exhibition of the writings of McGill University graduates, will be taken care of here; and all available books, written or edited by McGill men will be displayed on the shelves during the week. All will be pleased to learn that the spacious reading room will also be used during the celebration as a tea room. The Library, however, will be closed during the evenings of that week.

Of the more permanent changes that are about to take place, students will be gratified to know that it is planned to convert one of the rooms in the basement of the Library into a smoking-room for the men. Coats and scarfs will no longer be misplaced, "accidentally" or otherwise; for the check-room with its attendant will again be in operation. Those whom haunting examinations gave the chills will be made warm; increased heating facilities, made necessary by the addition of the extension, will be proportioned to all parts of the Library building. A pamphlet, giving Freshmen and others unacquainted with the Library, full directions, how to use the catalogue and library, will be distributed in various university buildings. These suggestions, it is hoped, will be read and mastered thoroughly, as they contain directions, based on experience, which will save the students' time and place the resources of the Library at his disposal. Owing to alterations in the Library building, all permits to the sack-rooms have been withdrawn.

An excellent seven piece orchestra under the leadership of Signor Martucci provides the dance numbers. It has been said that this orchestra has had much to do with the popularity enjoyed and it is only necessary to listen to an evening's program rendered by Signor Martucci and his musicians to understand that this is no exaggeration.

THE CAPITOL

"The Affairs of Anatol," the big attraction at the Capitol Theatre for this week, has created an unusual amount of interest among theatre-goers. Rustling with silken luxury, alluring with beautiful women, and with a cast of real stars such as has never been drawn together in any other picture, it heads the list of master productions for the year. It is in its third week in New York and many other big cities over the line where it is breaking all records for attendance. The story, written by Jeanie Macpherson and suggested by Schnitzler's famous comedy of the same name, tells of an impressionable young man of wealth who interests himself in other people's affairs, and runs a big risk of getting his own affairs tangled up. The scenes are big, even when the foolish young man wrecks the apartment of the girl he thought he had saved from bad companions on finding she has deceived him, and there is a splendid anti-climax when he goes in desperation to find the wickedest woman in New York and discovers something that most people would not imagine. There is a clever hypnotizing scene toward the close of the picture. A dozen Paramount stars appear in the production, such well-known actors as Wallace Reid, Gloria Swanson, Agnes Ayres, Elliott Dexter, Bebe Daniels, Wanda Hawley, Theodore Roberts, Monte Blue, the inimitable comedienne Polly Moran, Julia Faye, Theodore Kistoff, and Raymond Hutton, a galaxy of talent that ensures evenness of the highest standard of excellence in the production.

THE NEW GRAND

This week the New Grand offers a screen version of "The Three Musketeers," made some time ago by Thos.

CHANGES IN UNION SINCE LAST SPRING

Ladies' Rest Room For Social Functions.

CHEAPER MEALS.

Cafeteria Open To-day—Afternoon Tea at Five.

The Union, from the outside, seems to be the same as ever, but the old-timers will notice numerous changes once they pass the threshold. The personnel lacks Mr. Chapman, a favorite among the boys, but otherwise there is the same staff in the building. This year they expect to have a disabled returned man as checker in the cloak room, so that lucky individuals boasting of fur coats may start wearing them as soon as cold weather sets in.

Syd. Davis, the President, and Bert Rochester, the Vice-President of the Union, are both in residence there, and will be pleased to receive any further suggestions for the betterment of the Centre of Student Affairs. Application for rooms for meetings should be made to the office.

The most of the changes in the building are as outlined in the elections last year. The old pool room has been made into a ladies' rest room, and the pool tables have been set up in the former reading room. The lounge room is now doing extra duty as reading room.

The list of reading matter now boasts of the Tech. Voodoo, The Harvard Lampoon, The Dartmouth Jack O'Lantern, and the Varsity Goblin, as well as the usual assortment of magazines. A French newspaper will also be added.

In the billiard room there is the addition of a new table and most of the old tables have been re-covered. The system of rates for English billiards has been changed to a flat rate of 1c. per minute, per table. There are also a dozen special cues, which will be rented for $1.00 for the session, with a 50c. caution charge for key.

An improvement is being made in the issuing of Chess sets, whereby less confusion in mixing of sets is expected.

The local Association of Telephone Leeches will be delighted to hear of increased accommodation for their activities. This, of course, means at the Union, not to R.V.C. But there is a string attached which may not appeal to the youthful Romeo. It is proposed to place the extra phone on the wall in public sight and hearing. One of the old cabinets will be made into a pay station. According to Euclid, that leaves just one place where a combination of ardent language and an empty purse is possible.

The average purse will be less empty this year if the owner haunts the Cafeteria. Reductions in prices are general, and the noon meal will be a la carte this year as well as the evening. Reductions are in accordance with the general lowering of prices, as the Cafeteria is not operated with an aim to profit. Lovers of the fragrant Oolong may start the season at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and rejoice over the set of new tea-pots. The pastry cook of last year is back with his wonderful assortment of recipes, and it is whispered that there is a new one for pie. Refreshments for club meetings, dances and catering for banquets and dinners will be improved upon. The supply of cold water will be still colder this year, as there has been a change in the piping. A new oven has been added to the kitchen equipment.

Last year was the most successful year the Union has ever seen, but with the increased and improved accommodation for student activities, the coming year should see it eclipsed as a centre of the interests of the student body.

DIRECTORY AVAILABLE FOR ROOMING HOUSES

This season every effort is being made to make new students feel at home on their arrival at McGill. Strathcona Hall will be glad to do anything possible to help out-of-town men get settled if they will get in touch with the Hospitality Committee, whose headquarters are at the office of the Hall. A directory of suitable boarding and rooming houses to the extent of some eight hundred is at the service of any student who cares to avail himself of the advantage.

An information bureau is open under the S. C. A. during the day for the purpose of helping out in every way possible.

The Travellers' Aid have been working in co-operation with the S. C. A. in Windsor and Bonaventure Stations during the past week or ten days, while new members to the college are pouring into the city. Their booths have been at service as an information centre at the railway depots, directing many students, as to the shortest way to their new abodes.

Every person who is not satisfied with his present accommodation is welcome to look over the lists of rooms. Strathcona Hall is a student organization, run by students, and existing solely for their benefit.

H. Ince, Dorothy Dalton, Louise Glaum and Orrie Johnston star in the picture. As an added attraction "The Kinsman," a British masterpiece, and Charlie Chaplin in "A Night Show" completes an interesting bill.

PROMINENT BADGES FOR VERDANT ONES

Freshies at Sister Universities Easily Picked Out

Apart from an air of unmistakable verdancy and the shrill treble of extreme youth the freshmen teeming on the Campus this morning have nothing to distinguish them from the nobler band of their seniors.

A "Daily" man who has timed his arrival in this city for that nine o'clock lecture to a fraction brings word of the sad lot of the freshly new-laid at Toronto and Queen's.

The "Scotch" humour of the Kingstons, who started lectures a few days ago, has risen to dizzy heights. Members of the Queen's fresh are creating havoc in the staid and sombre Limestone City by appearing in the streets crowned with the semi-defunct "derby", the crown painted a vivid green by order of the upper-years. Thus they roam the alleys and byways, attired in this bizarre headgear, and as they meet each other, they realize their extreme infancy and cherubic nature.

Torontonians, not content with being left behind the times, have instituted like distinguishing marks for those from the bush. The Medical first year men—or rather youths—that all may gaze upon them and be wise, must wrap around their half-ripe Adam's apples glaring red cravats. On the other hand the Dents have the stern order ever before them that they under no circumstances may wear any tie at all. Also, in one of the women's colleges, a green ribbon must be worn in the most conspicuous position, or, in other words, round the ankles.

PREMIER MEIGHEN'S CABINET CONTAINS NO MCGILL MEN

First Cabinet Since 1896 Which Does Not Include McGill Graduate—Right Hon. C. J. Doherty Resigns—Many Former Students Become Benedicts.

The most outstanding event in recent graduate news has been the retirement from the Federal Cabinet of Right Hon. C. J. Doherty, Law '76, who first assumed office as Minister of Justice in 1911. The cabinet which Premier Meighen has now chosen is the first since 1896 which does not include a McGill man. Graduates will rejoice to learn through the Premier's intimation, that Mr. Doherty is still to remain in the service of his country in some responsible position as yet undefined.

His long service at the Bar and on the Bench and the manner in which he has administered his portfolio make him a man of the utmost value whose experience and powers Canada could ill afford to do without.

Among recent births are those of daughters to Capt. J. H. Edgar, Science '03, Montreal; to Kenneth Molson, Arts '96, of Montreal; and to Dr. W. R. Dowd, Arts '15, Med. '18, Ottawa. Robert S. Eadie, Science '17, and Mrs. Eadie, "Vera Adams, Arts '17", are the proud parents of a son.

Recent marriages are those of Douglas S. Cole, Science '15, of Ottawa, and Miss Bessie Storey, at Brockville, Ont.; of Eliot S. Frosst, past student, and Miss Bessie Ballantyne, at Montreal West; of Henry K. S. Hemming, Arts '80, and Miss Beatrice A. Palmer, at Ste. Anne de Bellevue; of Dr. T. A. Lomer, Med. '06, and Miss Gertrude Lynch, at Ottawa; of Miss Florence MacLaren, past student, and Robert R. Bogue, at Buckingham, Que.; of Hugh MacLean, past student, and Miss Jennie E. Windsor, at Bathurst, N.B.; of Dr. W. E. Nelson, Med. '03, and Miss Edith Jamieson, at Montreal; of Dr. L. S. Planché, Med. '21, and Miss Judith Little, Outremont; of Rev. P. Roy, Arts '05, and Miss Winnifred Charlton, of Westmount; of Wilfred Sadler, Agr. '15, and Miss Olive McLean, at Vancouver; and of Dr.

John A. Tallon, Med. '19, and Miss Kathleen Broderick, at Cornwall, Ont.

Among those scheduled to become benedicts in the near future are: G. Arthur Bennet, Science '11; Dr. S. W. Boone, Med. '19, "who is to be married to Miss Phebe McGregor, Arts '19"; John W. Jeakins, Arts '13, "whose bride to be is Miss Dorothy Hicks, Arts '17"; Dr. J. Guy W. Johnson, Med. '04, Dr. H. G. C. Paine, Med. '16, G. Melville Taylor, Sci. '15, and Theodore J. Kelly, Law, '17.

Graduates who have died recently are Dr. James H. Fulton, Med. '63, of Ste. Anne de Bellevue; Dr. E. A. Kirkpatrick, Med. '88, of Halifax, and Dr. Robert Mason, Med. '96, of Rochester, N.Y.

W. U. Cotton, Law '04, has been appointed editor of The Maritime Labor Herald, published at Glace Bay, N. S. Rev. Dr. Robt. Johnston, Arts '87, has been welcomed into the pastorate of Grace Church, Calgary.

Major H. A. Chisholm, past student in Law, has been transferred to Calcutta as Canadian Trade Commissioner.

Col. John C. Meakins, Med. '04, of the University of Edinburgh, is about to undertake a three months' tour of Peru, where he will make a scientific investigation of the effects of air pressure upon the heart.

During the past summer one of the professors in the Science faculty met with a very serious accident. Prof. Armstrong last August, despite every medical attention, lost the complete sight of one of his eyes, and is now recovering from his illness.

Mr. Harold Nicols, B.A., who is a member of the faculty in the department of Physics, is now suffering in the hospital with a broken collar-bone. Mr. Nicols recently had an accident while out riding on his motorcycle, and as a result of this collision it is expected that he will be laid up for some weeks.
